Definition of Homogeneous Equation:

If the right-hand side of the equation

$$\frac{dy}{dx} = f(x, y)$$

can be expressed as a function of the ration $\frac{y}{x}$ alone, then we say the equation is homogeneous.